CLARENDON SEMI-PROS BOAST OF GREAT RECORD

Manager Bill Malone Plans to Put Even Stronger Team in Field for Next Season. Special to The Washington Herald.

Clarendon, Va., Oct. 3.-Although the sound from the bats and the cheering of the fans in the last same of the re-cent baseball season over at Clarendon has hardly died away, and in spite of the has hardly died away, and in spite of the fact that Alexandria County is "all het up" over politics trying to figure out who will be elected next week to succeed Capt. Mackey and Sheriff Barbor, Man-ager Bill Malone, of the Clarendon Base-ball Association, can be found most every night in the week around the wood fire in Hank Furr's tobacco stone or at the soda fountain in "Dec" Boyer's in con-sultation with his assistants and advisers napping out a plan of campaign for next men he has already signed, he hopes to have almost a clean slate next year.

He is somewhat, reticent about discussing the relative merits and ability of his various players, but when his star battery, O. Von Herbulls and Baxter Daylson, is mentioned he declares he has the best in this neck of the woods.

When work on the idaying field is somewhat the star of the woods.
